

The Art of Voice Acting

by James R. Alburger
www.VoiceActing.com

Commercial - Dialogue 1-Male 1-Female 1-Annc Tag (M/F)

CheapTimes.com
Radio :60

- Male: You know, you just don't get much for your money these days. What with gas costing what it does—I can hardly afford to drive to the store, let alone buy anything.
- Female: I remember back when a loaf of bread only cost a quarter.
- Male: Well, I remember when you could get a whole meal for under a dollar!
- Female: Yeah? Well, my mother was so frugal she used to feed our family on 75 cents... and she'd have leftovers for the next day.
- Male: MY mom used to make soup out of ketchup and shoelaces! We ate it... and we liked it.
- Female: That's nothing... my dad used to get free black bananas from the store and he'd tell us they were from France... and really rare!
- Male: You think that's something? Well, my mom used to make our under ware out of used gunny sacks. I tell you, that kept us on our toes!
- TAG: Remember when things really were cheap? Well, they are again! Visit CheapTimes dot com for great deals on the things you need today... or remember from yesterday. CheapTimes dot com. Great stuff. Cheap prices.